

Congress Votes Big Army Bill; Senate Adopts Report On Next Year's W.P.A. Bill

Senate Sends Housing Legislation Along to White House for District Workers

Agencies Get Help

State, Justice, Judiciary and Commerce Units Get Funds

Washington, June 30 (AP)—With no debate, the House quickly completed legislative action today on a record-breaking $42,800,000,000 War Department appropriation bill.

Representative Snyder (D.-Pa.) called up the measure, which had been approved by the Senate a little earlier with 31 minutes of debate, and obtained concurrence of the House in two minor amendments, one of which would make certain that the money would be available starting tomorrow, upon President Roosevelt's signature.

The other would prohibit the carrying of advertising by army camp newspapers.

The Senate also adopted today a conference report on a bill appropriating $280,000,000 for the Works Projects Administration during the next fiscal year. In addition $56,900,000 is available to the W. P. A. from unexpended previous appropriations.

This bill, it is estimated, will take care of 400,000 on the W.P.A. rolls during the next year. It now goes to the White House for the President's approval.

The Senate also adopted and sent to the White House legislation appropriating $32,000,000 for war housing in the District of Columbia.

Passage of the record-breaking army supply bill was on a voice vote that appeared unanimous.

The army bill, with appropriations far exceeding the cost of the last war, carried funds for the purchase of 23,550 warplanes and approximately 100,000 tanks. Under its terms the army would be built up from its present strength of approximately 2,800,000 men to 4,500,000 men by July 1, 1943.

Of the total amount appropriated, $12,700,000 would be set aside for lend-lease operations, $11,316,000 allocated to the aviation program, $9,948,000,000 for ordnance purchases and $3,721,000,000 for transportation and equipment.

The newly created Woman's Auxiliary Corps would receive $28,334,000 for its operations during the fiscal year beginning tomorrow.

The Senate further approved and sent to the White House compromise legislation appropriating $425,000,000 to maintain the State, Justice and Commerce Departments for the fiscal year which begins tomorrow.

In accepting a joint conference committee's recommendations, the Senate agreed to a House stipulation that Senate confirmation of Justice Department anti-trust attorneys and special attorneys be limited to those receiving $7,500 or more annually. The Senate originally had demanded confirmation of all such lawyers drawing more than $5,000.

Ads Boost Bonds

Detroit, June 30 (AP)—All display advertising in Detroit's two afternoon newspapers was devoted today to the sale of war bonds and stamps. Self interest has been put aside by Detroit merchants, the Detroit news said, "to help put across the message that you must buy war bonds as you have never bought before."

Travel Is Controlled

San Francisco, June 30 (AP)—Strict military control over all civilian travel to and from Alaska begins July 11.

Opposition Grows

Hamilton Fish Finds Some Tough Going in Party; Ryan May Run

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 30 (AP)—Rep Hamilton Fish faces added outright opposition from within his own party today with plans developing for an "independent Republican" candidate against him in the fall campaign.

A member of the Dutchess county G. O. P. committee, which recently refused to endorse Fish for renomination for the first time in two decades, last night opened the attack.

State Senator Allan A. Ryan, Jr., was named by Executive Committee Member William D. Howell as the "only" candidate who can by demonstration fact, by his record as a representative of the district, beat Hamilton Fish.

Federal Subsidies Suggested To Prevent Ceiling Break

Henderson and Wickard Suggest Scheme to Buy Farm Products, Raw Materials, Resell at Loss

Washington, June 30 (AP)—A plan for vast federal business subsidies to block a threatened breakthrough in price ceilings has been recommended to congressional leaders by high-ranking government officials.

Informed sources said today that Price Administrator Leon Henderson and Secretary of Agriculture Wickard had suggested informally a scheme built around government purchase of farm products and other raw materials which would be resold—at a loss—to businesses "squeezed" between frozen wholesale and retail prices.

Thus, it was said, a retailer who could not raise his prices to compensate for higher wholesale charges could continue in business without breaking through price ceilings.

One adviser to President Roosevelt said "one guess" was that such a program would cost the government between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000. Rep. Cannon (D., Mo.) floor manager for next year's office of price administration appropriation, told the House in an extraordinary night session last night, "We have heard the most colossal sums mentioned."

This development came as both the Senate and House faced badly jammed calendars on the last day of the fiscal year, with legislative action incomplete on numerous appropriation bills which must be completed by midnight if affected departments are to have funds to operate with tomorrow.

Night sessions were in prospect for both chambers and there was talk of trying to put through resolutions continuing appropriations on the existing basis if last-minute log-jams prevent action before the start of the new federal year.

All Stores to Aid Bond-Stamp Boost

At 12 o'clock noon, July 1, the whistles will blow and the bells will ring and every store in America will stop selling merchandise and sell only War Savings Bonds and Stamps, throughout the store from 12 to 12:15 p. m. The local stores will cooperate in this bond and stamp sale and shoppers are asked to be prepared to make purchases of the bonds and stamps at that time tomorrow. Through the campaign for War Bond and Stamp pledges almost all of the residents of the city have been reached and results are being filed with the committee. There are still a few sections in the outlying areas to be canvassed and a call is being made to high school seniors who own bicycles to volunteer for this service. It is hoped that enough volunteers will register at the office, 247 Clinton avenue, so that the campaign of canvassing may be finished this evening.

New Factors Loom As Aid to Allies In Desert Fighting

However, to Protect Key Base of Alexandria, Defense Must Hold Near El Daba Fort

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Wide World War Analyst)

The battle for Egypt still swirls inconclusively over several hundred square miles of blazing desert sands, but it's well we recognize now that the allies are nearer disaster than at any time since Hitler crushed the Anglo-French-Belgian fighting front beneath the greatest war-machine ever constructed.

Definitely it's not a moment for despair, but it will be a matter of great rejoicing if we win. The British today report that they have slowed the enemy drive, and claim that they can establish a line and hold it. With that encouragement let's "hope for the best, but be prepared for the worst," as they say. Here's the way the picture looks at the moment:

The British have been carrying out a fighting withdrawal in the face of Nazi Field Marshal Rommel's fierce all-out offensive until their right flank has reached the neighborhood of Fuka on the coast (use your maps, please) and probably has gone east of that place. It looks as though they would aim to hold at El Daba, a fortified position.

Two Men Are Killed In Virginia Melee

Lynchburg, Va., June 30 (AP)—T. Franklin Daniel, member of the Virginia House of Delegates, and T. Gibson Hobbs, Lynchburg city attorney, were shot and killed shortly after 1 p. m. today in the Law Building.

Warren Myers, 51, a salesman, was arrested in Daniel's locked office and was charged with murder. He was placed in a detention cell at police headquarters. Police said he had not been questioned.

Hobbs was reported to have been shot first. He fell with three bullets in his back and died before he reached Virginia Baptist Hospital. A few minutes later Daniel was killed in his office three floors above.

A member of Hobbs Law Firm—Kemp, Hobbs and Davidson—said the attorneys defended an Illinois firm about a year ago in a large law-suit filed by Myers. At that time Daniel was a member of the firm and was actively engaged in defending the suit.

Trolley Tracks Are Being Taken

Freeman Photo

The days when trolley cars ran on Broadway were recalled to older residents when the local W. P. A. on Monday started the work of taking up the old trolley tracks on the Broadway hill, between Spring and West Union streets. The old rails that are being taken up will be salvaged and used in the manufacture of war equipment. At the time the trolley road was abandoned about 15 years ago, and the present bus system began operating, it was decided to leave the old car tracks remain in the street and cover them over with pavement. This was done because it was thought that the cost of removal of the rails would prove more expensive than laying a new pavement over them.

New York Youth Hampered Because Of 'Minor' Angle

Farm Cadets Would Harvest Fruit, but None Will Take Responsibility for Their Conduct

An investigation of the farm labor problem in Ulster county disclosed that there is a shortage of adult farm labor but apparently an untapped reservoir of youth labor which is waiting and anxious to go to work to harvest the county's crop of small fruits and berries. Adult labor for the heavier tasks on the farm apparently is scarce and several farmers report that they are endeavoring to get along with boys of high school age, paying as much as $2.50 a day for such inexperienced help in order to get in the harvest.

In the Hudson valley and in southern Ulster where small fruits are a major crop there is reported to be a scarcity of pickers on many farms while Farm Cadets recruited from the New York city schools stand willing to come to the country for the work. The matter of responsibility for these minors while in camp appears to lie at the bottom of the situation.

Early this season plans were made for a Cadet Camp in the town of Marlborough where youths from New York city high schools would be housed and permitted to work on neighboring farms in the fruit harvest. Plans went along for the camp, arrangements were made for sanitary and water services for the camp and then came the matter of supervision. Since the youths who would come to the camp were minors someone would have to be responsible for them. There the matter met the first obstruction. A

Treasury Records Most Costly Year in History

Spending in 12 Months Exceeds Entire Cost of World War I; Exact Figures Not Given

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Having spent in 12 months more than the entire cost of the first World War, the treasury closed books today on the costliest fiscal year in its history.

It was a temporary record, though, because the budget for the new fiscal year beginning tomorrow is more than double the old year's.

Exact figures won't be available for a few days, but preliminary tabulations showed that in the last year the treasury spent $26,000,000,000 for direct war purposes plus enough more for other governmental activities (some of which were related to the war) to make an expenditures total of approximately $32,500,000,000.

The war figure compared with an official computation that the direct cost of the first World War to the United States, from the time of its entry in 1917 until the peace treaty was ratified in 1921, was $25,729,000,000. Pensions, adjusted compensation, and other terms since then would add many more billions to this figure.

The previous one year spending record (for all purposes) was $18,522,895,000 in the 12 months which ended June 30, 1919.—The last year of the first World War. Last year's total was more than twice as much as the $12,710,629,823 spent in the preceding year.

But starting tomorrow, the year's bill, as estimated by Budget Director Harold D. Smith, will be $73,141,000,000, including $67,000,000,000 for direct war purposes.

Punishment Threatens

Berlin (from German broadcasts), June 30 (AP)—The German radio broadcast an official statement today in which punishment "according to the harsh rules of martial law" was threatened for any civilian in occupied territories who gave aid to allied parachutists. (German military commanders previously had given strict orders to civilians in Nazi-controlled countries to report the presence of parachutists to the nearest gendarmerie headquarters. Violators were warned that the death penalty would be imposed.)

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 30 (AP)—The position of the treasury June 27: Receipts $132,309,843.52. Net balance $3,061,561,461.91. Working balance included $2,299,136,325.06. Customs receipts for month $24,890,241.14. Receipts fiscal year (July 1) $12,696,936,089.19. Expenditures fiscal year $31,941,675,387.84. Excess of expenditures $19,244,739,298.65. Total debt $76,586,076,103.39. Increase over previous day $25,567,764.68. Gold assets $22,735,602,122.69.

Three Held by Nazis

Vichy, Unoccupied France, June 30 (AP)—German military authorities announced today the arrest of three men who, they said, bombed German headquarters at Tours last January 12. The three also were suspected of responsibility for the attempt to assassinate Marcel Deat, collaborationist leader of the pro-Nazi national popular party, with a small bomb.

Heavy Fighting Is Reported 140 Miles From Alexandria, Key Naval Base

Hope Is Seen

Observers Show More Optimism on Status of Egypt

By ROGER D. GREENE (Associated Press War Editor)

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's 175-mile drive inside Egypt was reported running into stiffened resistance today as U. S. Army fliers and fresh New Zealand troops reinforced the British imperial armies amid heavy fighting 140 miles west of the great Alexandria naval base.

Alexandria itself was bombed again during the night.

An R. A. F. communique said U. S. airmen were pounding the invaders by day and night, attacking Axis columns west of Matruh and bombing enemy-occupied Tobruk in Libya.

Front-line observers reflected some optimism over the new trend of the battle, but the situation remained extremely critical.

Linked with the German drive toward the Suez Canal and the Middle East, the furious Nazi onslaught against Sevastopol in the Crimea appeared to be nearing a climax.

Latest Soviet dispatches said the Germans were now throwing 15 divisions—about 225,000 troops—into the siege of the key Black Sea naval fortress.

Nazi Score Gains

These dispatches acknowledged that despite a rally by Sevastopol's out-numbered garrison, the Germans had rebounded to score new gains, particularly in the northeast sector of the citadel. Red Star, the Soviet newspaper, hinted that the end might be near, commenting:

"No matter what the outcome of the unequal struggle, this is a victory for Soviet arms. History will always remember the duel of one lone garrison with 15 German divisions."

In the Egyptian battle theatre, the British had beaten off one big-scale Axis tank assault and met another with undisclosed results. A bulletin from Italian headquarters said Axis motorized columns had passed Fuka, 45 miles east of fallen Matruh.

Cairo dispatches, however, declared that reinforcements in planes and men were helping to rally the weary British 8th Army, and indicated that the British were fighting from new positions about 50 miles east of Matruh, on a 45-mile line stretching inland from the Mediterranean Sea coast to the Egyptian "Death Valley" known as the Qattara depression.

British imperial headquarters said the 8th Army, fighting desperately under a new command, had thrown back "large forces of enemy tanks and vehicles" on Sunday, west of Fuka.

Again yesterday, a communique said, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's panzers advanced "and again were engaged in the same area by our forces."

The communique said New Zealand troops battled Axis armored forces and infantry in another sector and inflicted heavy casualties in hand-to-hand bayonet fighting.

In London, Prime Minister Churchill, tumultuously cheered by parliament following his return from the United States, announced that Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck, commander in chief of British Middle East forces, had taken over personal command of the British 8th Army.

Vessel Arrives

Exchange Ship Reaches U. S. With Nationals, Several Diplomats

Jersey City, N. J., June 30 (AP)—The diplomatic exchange ship Drottningholm reached her pier today on her second return from Lisbon with 949 passengers, including more than 500 American nationals exchanged for Axis citizens.

The white-painted vessel, which had safe-conduct passage from all the belligerents, tied up shortly after 9:30 a. m. (E. W. T.) and preparations were made immediately to discharge her passengers, some of whom came from concentration camps and others from embassies.

Aboard the ship were 42 Canadian and Latin-American nationals and a group of minor United States diplomatic officials.

Rommel Faces Funnel-Shaped Defense

As fierce fighting raged ever nearer the great naval base of Alexandria, it appeared possible with the abandoning of the Matruh defenses (broken line) that British forces may attempt to stand (jagged line) 50 miles east of Matruh where the funnel-shaped bottleneck of hard land between the Mediterranean and the soft sandy Qattara Depression narrows to about 45 miles. U. S. Army bombers and the R. A. F. (planes) pounded enemy tanks and supply lines throughout the day and night.

Two More Merchant Ships Reported Sunk in Atlantic

New Factors Loom As Aid to Allies In Desert Fighting

(By the Associated Press)
The sinking of two more United States merchant vessels, with a presumed loss of 43 lives, was announced today (Tuesday) by the navy.

The latest losses raised to 326 the total of United and neutral nations' vessels unofficially tabulated by the Associated Press as lost in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor.

Six cameramen, sole survivors of the crew of 38 of a medium-sized vessel sunk more than 500 miles from land, said they believed they were torpedoed by two raiders because immediately after the attack they saw light signals flashed between two points nearby. They sailed six days in a lifeboat before being picked up by another merchantman.

Eleven of the crew of 35 aboard the other ship, a small one, were lost when it was sunk in mid-June without warning. One lifeboat was lowered and other men reached a liferaft. After the ship sank, the commander asked routine questions about the ship's cargo and destination.

The lifeboat, which took on all the survivors, sailed into a Caribbean port the following day.

A large sea-going American tugboat, a small Norwegian craft, a Yugoslav freighter which went to the Norwegian rescue, and a small U. S. freighter were announced by the navy yesterday as having been sunk recently, while the sinking of three American merchantmen was disclosed Sunday.

Announced eastern Pacific merchant vessel sinkings since the war began remained at eight.

Among factors working against the British are these: Their weary army is disorganized from its heavy defeat and retreat and is having to reorganize in the face of Rommel's terrific hammering. The enemy holds the initiative. He is supreme in tank power which means so much in desert fighting, the British having lost much of their armored equipment in the battle of June 6 in Libya and in the ambush into which they were lured a week later.

If Alexandria's usefulness as a naval and air base hasn't already been largely nullified temporarily, there is danger that it will be because of the enemy's capture of airfields from which Axis bombers can reach this great port more easily. And well to the top in importance—Rommel is one of the greatest tacticians of the day.

Circumstances favorable to the British include the time gained by retreat. That has permitted the arrival of fresh troops, among these being hard-hitting New Zealanders. Better yet, American air strength—both warplanes and men—was coming to the rescue. This meant much because it appeared that the battle was likely to turn on air control, and Rommel likewise was receiving air aid.

It's worth repeating that the British have shortened their supply lines until they are close to their main bases, while Rommel's have been dangerously lengthened. That's his weak spot right now. Perhaps on the credit side, also should be recorded that General Sir Claude Auchinleck, commander in chief of the British forces in the middle east, has assumed direct command of the Eighth Army in place of General Ritchie.

Best of all, the defenders have their chin up and say that they can win.

Rationing of Gasoline Affects Tourist Trade

Touring in the gasoline-rationed East this summer will have to be limited to the distance which motorists can travel with the gasoline obtained with their "A" ration cards, the Office of Price Administration has warned. This applies to automobile owners who live outside the 17 eastern states where rationing has been put into effect, as well as to those who reside inside the rationed area.

In order to save as much of the East's limited petroleum supply as possible for essential use, the card rationing plan must drastically restrict the travel of the pleasure, or non-essential, driver, OPA officials pointed out.

Tourists from outside the 17 rationed states will be subject to the same regulations when they enter the rationed area. Signs along the highways at all entry points will direct visitors to apply for a ration card. Service station attendants will be able to give information regarding the location of these boards. The board will be authorized to issue such visitor "A" ration cards promptly, except in the case of those entering the area on business. Such exceptions will be eligible for cards that will provide for their needs. But the vacationist, as well as all other pleasure drivers, will be able to obtain no more rations than do the same class of drivers in the rationed area.

Record Cotton Market Is Consequence of War

DALLAS, TEXAS.—Cotton, the depression depressed agricultural king, is about to re-ascend its throne, this time to hold greater powers over the everyday life of man than at any time in the past.

Shortages brought about by the war, curtailed shipping and import facilities, are bringing about an all-time record consumption of cotton. The 'ole king's new grip on life is partially due to the magic wand waved over its domain by the research labors of chemists and scientists.

The future will see cotton being used not only for manufacture of clothing, explosives, rubber substitutes, paper, oils for camouflage paints and oils for the kitchen but also may find it being used to provide a new baking flour, one rich in vitamin B1.

Following a pattern set in the last war, cotton slumped at the outbreak of World War II as it faced the loss of foreign markets but quickly recovered on the basis of unprecedented domestic demands.

New York, June 30 (AP)—While selected stocks managed to keep recovery fires burning in today's market, many leaders seemingly ran out of rising fuel.

Hesitancy was the rule at the start and, with dealings still rather slow, declines of fractions to around a point were in the majority near the fourth hour.

Some potential buyers were said to have retired to await the outcome of the Egyptian conflict although the news from this sector appeared a trifle better. The buyers' rails of Monday reverted to apathy.

Bonds generally were steady and most commodities higher.

Among prominent early share laggards were Chrysler, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Anaconda, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft and Du Pont.

Standard Oil (N. J.), N. Y. Central, Westinghouse, American Can and Owens-Illinois.

Lacking much support in the curb were Gulf Oil, Glen Alden Coal, Brewster Aero, Phoenix Securities and Pennroad. Columbia Oil and Gas and Aluminum of America edged forward at intervals.

Alien Is Held

Walter Henry Henning, 34, chicken farmer, who resides near Saugerties, was taken into custody last night by Deputy Sheriff Segelken and after arraignment before Police Justice Ernest E. Schirmer of Saugerties was held at the Ulster county jail on a charge of illegal possession of firearms. Henning was booked as a native of Hamburg, Germany and is not a citizen of this country.

Suggestions Given for Care of Paint Brushes

In the past, approximately 90 per cent of the paint brushes used were made of black Chinese hog bristles. With imports from China at a standstill, paint brushes should be cared for carefully and protected so that they may render the longest possible service. Never leave brushes in a paint pot. While painting sessions are on, suspend the brushes in an old can half filled with turpentine. When the painting is finished, wash the brushes well in turpentine or benzine. Squeeze out all of the paint possible, then wash very thoroughly in hot soapy water until all the paint is removed. Allow to dry thoroughly before storing away. Alcohol cleans shellac brushes, lacquer thinner cleans lacquer brushes.

Brushes that are used in casein or cold water paints will not be damaged by these materials if they are not allowed to dry into the bristles. Bending this hardened mass may cause the bristles to crack. Always wash brushes used in water paints immediately after using.

When painting, don't jam a brush into corners. It buckles the bristles and spoils the brush for good work. Be sure you are using the right sized brushes for the work required. Missing a brush will cause it to lose its general shape. After loading the brush with paint, it should be drawn, flat side down, across the rim of the paint can. The shape of the brush will be spoiled if drawn edgewise. With good care your brush will stand by you for the duration.

Madagascar Is Almost As Large as Texas

Madagascar, seized from the Vichy French by the British, is the key to the western Indian ocean. It controls the trade routes around Africa's Cape of Good Hope to India and Suez. In the hands of an enemy it could harass shipping from the British Isles to Australia by way of the Capetown route.

Madagascar's area is 228,000 square miles—larger than France—almost as large as Texas. It is the world's fourth largest island, 1,000 miles long, and 360 miles wide at its broadest point. Only Greenland, New Guinea and Borneo exceed it. Africa is only 240 miles across the Mozambique channel.

Diego Suarez, on the north tip of the island, has one of the finest natural harbors in the world. There the French had established a naval base, with a 656-foot drydock and machine shops, and an air field.

Another important air field is at Tananarive, the capital. Short lengths of railroad and motor roads have been built by the French to serve the population centers chiefly in the southern half of the island.

St. Lawrence Gulf Has Half the Size of North Sea

Announcement that an enemy U-boat has operated in the St. Lawrence river suggests thoughts that may be misleading unless a map is handy. For the St. Lawrence is no ordinary stream with banks close together. Near Anticosti island it is some 80 miles wide, and where it narrows down, 150 miles farther in, the banks are still approximately 30 miles apart.

The river ranks high among the streams of the world in the volume of water discharged. With its canals and the Great Lakes, it joins Chicago and Duluth by fairly direct water route with Europe. Trade in western Canada with the United Kingdom has built the great cities of Montreal and Quebec on its banks, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

When the Gulf of St. Lawrence is added to the great funnel-shaped expanse of the lower river, the area is half that of the sub-Indus North sea. It exceeds the area of the five Great Lakes combined and is equal to 26 Chesapeake bays. It would cover the Middle Atlantic states—New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania—with Delaware and most of Maryland thrown in for good measure.

Ideal for Ambush

The Japanese army invading southern China was shattered along one of the most difficult sections of the tortuous Burma road, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

The road, winding to 10,000 feet along hairpin turns, overhung by precipices, and sometimes only eight feet wide, is ideal territory for ambush. Concealed Chinese artillery at Chefang and American Volunteer Group fliers near the Salween river smashed the spearhead of the Japanese forces by taking advantage of the road's natural obstacles. Mechanized equipment proved of little value there.

First town on the Chinese portion of the road is Wanting, a customs post toward which remnants of the Japanese army fled. Twenty-four miles to the northeast is Chefang, where the Chinese trapped the main Japanese army in a gorge.

Greeting Card Industry

The greeting card industry is comprised of over 100 manufacturers and publishers and gives employment to thousands of individual wage earners, including executives, artists, writers, craftsmen, factory workers, salesmen, retail dealers and clerks. At the same time, the industry uses a comparatively small amount of material, as is suggested by figures showing that the manufacture of greeting cards requires but a fraction of 1 per cent of the total paper output of the country.

It is also interesting to note that the industry utilizes no vital or critical materials; does not interfere with war production; yields up its materials for reprocessing. Shipments require but little transportation space.

Along the Burma Road

Japan's invasion spearhead into Yunnan province, along the Burma road, has brought a new war threat to one of China's long remote and undeveloped regions.

Before the Japanese attack on China and the completion, late in 1938, of the backdoor supply route through Yunnan, this province was an "outland" of the world. Part of high Asia, it is a continuation of the Tibetan mountain and plateau land. Its name literally means "South of the Clouds." It is considered one of the least Chinese of China's areas, with a population of some 12 million people who more closely resemble their neighbors in Burma, French Indo-China, and Thailand.

Answer to How Brown Is Brown Sugar Given

How brown is brown sugar? This question may sound like the one that asks how high is up. But the fact of the matter is that there are many degrees of brownness in this familiar form of sugar, as any housewife will testify.

No two people will ever agree exactly on the brownness of sugar because of the variation that exists in the perception of different individuals' eyes.

Now, however, thanks to a new device, the manufacturers of brown sugar will be able to provide the housewives of America with brown sugar of uniform color at all times.

Heretofore sugar refiners have had trouble with brown sugar because even the men who make the sugar could not agree on the degree of brownness of their product from batch to batch.

They need have no more trouble in this regard because two California chemists, T. R. Gillett and A. L. Holven, have invented a device which employs photoelectric cells to measure the amount of light reflected by brown sugar. By measuring the amount of reflected light by this electrical instrument, a true and consistent measure of the brownness of sugar is provided.

The Onion for Flavor

A taste-exciting odor from something-a-cooking in the kitchen? More often than not, there's an onion involved.

Maybe it's a suggestion of onion in the hashed potatoes . . . golden onion rings to serve atop steak . . . tangy onion soup. Or it could be one of hundreds of dishes. For the onion has almost unlimited culinary possibilities.

As every good cook knows, the chief value of the onion is for its flavor. Perhaps it is most appreciated by women who must plan meals using certain bland but nutritious foods day after day. Onions help them to vary their menus inexpensively. Dehydrated onions are being shipped now under terms of the Lend-Lease act—to brighten up monotonous wartime meals in countries where practically all food is rationed.

However, onions are not at the foot of the class as far as food value is concerned. In their raw state they have a little vitamin B1, riboflavin, vitamin C, iron, and calcium. Young, green onions are fair sources of carotene, which the body can change into vitamin A. All onions are high in water content, low in calories.

Amazing 20 Year Advance

Although the science of photography from the air was used to advantage toward the close of the first World war, it has seen its greatest development during the peace of the last 20-odd years, keeping abreast of the amazing expansion of modern air transportation. The technique which today makes possible the clear, distinct reconnaissance pictures which aviators are taking from the very threshold of the stratosphere is the result of millions of exposures made not only by the armies and navies of the world, but by countless civilian photographers who have helped to blaze the trail in the greatest advance the art of map-making has seen in many centuries, writes Bradford Washburn in New England Naturalist. Speedy, efficient field work and laboratory procedure may be essential to victory in war time, but they are equally as important to business prestige and profit in time of peace.

Brazil, the Giant

The "Giant of the South American Continent" is the territory of the United States of Brazil, occupying nearly half of South America. It contains one of the least explored regions of the world, and the basin of the mighty Amazon, largest of all rivers. Forests, inhabited by unknown tribes of Indians cover thousands of square miles in the valleys of the Amazon and its tributaries. Yet Brazil contains such modern and populous cities that a traveler can pass in a few days from scenes of absolute savagery to teeming boulevards that recall Paris, Lisbon, Madrid and many other large European cities.

Younger Men Sign Up for Uncle Sam

Estimated Three Million Due to Register

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Three million men of 18, 19 and 20 register for Selective Service today in the fifth nationwide draft registration, completing the official roster of some 43,000,000 men of 18 to 65.

The 20-year-olds are subject to call for the army. Those who reached the age of 20 by last December 31 were registered on February 16 and many already are in uniform.

Although the 18- and 19-year-olds are not subject to immediate call, the army has indicated it would like congressional authorization to draft them. It is now in the midst of a recruiting campaign directed at men under 20, and war department spokesmen have told congressional committees that in many combat assignments youths of 18 and 19 make the best soldiers.

Today's registration is for men born on or after January 1, 1922, and on or before June 30, 1924. The census bureau estimates that the registration will cover 2,446,000 of the 18-19 age groups and 616,000 of the 20 to 24 age group.

Instead of being subject to call by lottery, as in previous registrations, the new registrants will be classified for military service in the order of their birthdays, the oldest being classified first.

The draft registration places will be opened between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 30, 1942

IT IS PLANNED HERE

Now it can be told just how far Nazi supporters will go in killing and terrorizing the civilian population of the United States. The report of the F.B.I. on the capture of the eight submarine-borne saboteurs in this country should dispel any doubt in the minds of many who heretofore were reluctant to think or act seriously on this subject.

Residents of the great City of New York numbering some seven million people now know how desperate are the invaders. It has been revealed that plans called for the destruction of New York's vital water system and also for the blasting of the center of the city.

Knowing that it is planned to happen here, rather than theorizing that it can happen here, should result in greater vigilance on the part of the armed forces and the civilian population alike.

Besides the powerful explosives, the German agents carried $170,000. This vast amount of money was to play a very important part in the operations of the saboteurs. Bribery and corruption of citizens through lavish spending and the employment of Nazi sympathizers in this country was undoubtedly in the craniums of the Third Reich strategists when they outlined the murderous adventures.

There may be more saboteurs in this country and it is likely more will attempt another invasion.

However, the revelation of this phase of the war in our very midst should act as a boomerang, resulting in greater financial support for war agencies such as the purchase of War Bonds and Stamps and contributions to the U.S.O. It also should result in an intensification of our efforts in war industries and in other civilian endeavors in connection with the successful prosecution of the war.

TOP WAR JOB

The wrath of the British people rose lately on account of the disaster in Libya, added to many previous disasters. More action was demanded. Major George Fielding Eliot put the general situation in a nutshell when he said: "War cannot be conducted by a committee. The essence of committee leadership is discussion, whereas the essence of individual leadership is decision."

It is pointed out by American as well as British critics that the debacles of Malaya, Singapore, Burma, the East Indies, and lately Libya, while due seemingly to unpreparedness, have been caused by lack of concentrated leadership and authority. MacArthur and Wavell, Auchinleck, and others, may all be good; but their authority and areas of command have been divided, and often they have seemed to work at cross purposes.

Obviously there should be unity of command as there was finally in the last war. Churchill now controls the British effort through his Ministry of Defense, and President Roosevelt has authority over the American effort when he chooses to exercise it. But commanders in the field have had large discretion.

The rising clamor, and the situation itself, call for creation of a commander-in-chief who, with competent advisers, can direct the entire war effort of the United Nations, or of all except Russia if the latter insists on independent control.

BASEBALL IMMORTAL

Paul Waner has joined the immortals. Playing for the Boston Braves, he has become the seventh player in baseball history to make 3,000 hits, and thus keep company with such major stars as Cobb, Speaker, Wagner, Lajoie, Collins and the father of them all, old Adrian C. Anson.

To make 3,000 hits a player must average 200 hits a season for 15 seasons. Few last as long as 15 years, and fewer make 200 hits in one season, let alone 15. To make 200 hits a year, a player must get a hit and a third per game if he plays every day. Every game missed makes his task that much harder.

Paul Waner has played 17 years, and probably will not better his record very much.

With his brother Lloyd he made the most successful brother combination in baseball records. Known to opposing teams as "Big Poison" and "Little Poison," Paul and Lloyd made pitchers miserable for 15 years, and Pittsburgh correspondingly happy. Now neither is with his original team, but neither is forgotten.

KACHOO!

Look out, everybody! Kochia scoparia is coming. This is not a Japanese bomber, but to some people it will seem just as bad. Its other name is tumbleweed, one of the ball-like plants that break loose from their roots, roll with the wind across farms and pile up against barbed wire fences. The pollen it leaves will cause hay fever sufferers to sigh for the good old ragweed.

Kochia scoparia started in the West, and is heading East. The Chicago-St. Louis line has experienced it, and at last accounts it had got as far as Indianapolis.

Just what is to be done about it is not known. But any hay fever victim will tell you that the world has already got enough troubles without a new weed to stir up the old ailment.

HUNGER IN HAMBURG

Food riots are reported in Hamburg. Depend upon it, the rioters are the housewives and humble people of the city. High-placed Nazis have no shortage of food to riot about. Hitler is said to be abstemious in his habits; but when fat Goering, Goebbels and the other Nazi leaders run short of food, the millennium will be near. Or should it be called the day of judgment?

Speaking of putting lights out, as C.D. is always doing, and teaching people how to put fires out, as the air wardens are always doing, how about doing without something you want but don't need, and buying another bond to help put the whole fire of war out?

Some critics are getting worried by this big string of victories, but we had 'em coming to us, and we could stand a few more.

The United States Bureau of Fisheries is trying to popularize the eating of dogfish. Well, people eat catfish; why not dogfish?

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M. D.

VITAMINS RAISE LEVEL OF HEALTH

You are reading about vitamins every day, about their importance in the diet, and their effect upon the general health, yet if you were to be asked to describe a vitamin you might find it difficult to do so. I have been somewhat familiar with vitamins since the last war but I also would have difficulty in defining them.

In his book "Vitamins," Dr. Henry Borsook, Professor of Biochemistry, California Institute of Technology, says: "The fact is that the discovery of vitamins and of the role they play in human health is the most important medical advance so far made in this century. It has taught us what the essentials are in food. It has given us new insights into the chemistry of the body. But most important, it has given us the means of greatly raising the standard of health and well-being of all of us."

Everywhere we are seeing newspaper and magazine articles about the value of vitamins in certain diseases. Thus vitamin A is used in eye disease, B in neuritis, arthritis, lack of appetite, C in scurvy, D in rickets, and E in certain gland deficiencies. However, while it is important, not more than a fraction of the population is suffering with these diseases and Dr. Borsook points out that even larger groups need vitamins although they have no special disease.

The really serious problem is that the general level of health is lower than it needs to be. Defective vision in dim light, constipation and dyspepsia, the small aches and pains of middle age, poor teeth, thinning bones, general fatigue and lack of tone—these are all very often caused by insufficient amounts of vitamins in our ordinary diets over a period of many years.

The point is that while pains and aches seem to be just a "natural" condition as we grow from youth to middle and old age, these aches, pains and conditions which keep us from enjoying buoyant health are in many cases due to the lack of one or more vitamins.

How can we be sure of getting enough vitamins for our daily needs?

Diet experts have worked out tables of the everyday requirements of each vitamin for children and adults but if, in addition, to our regular diet of bread, potatoes and meat, we make sure every day of average servings of dairy products—milk, butter, cheese—and green vegetables—lettuce, spinach, cabbage, beet and carrot tops—we will get all the vitamins we need.

Children and some adults may need to take cod liver oil to obtain enough vitamin D.

Vitamin Chart
Dr. Barton has prepared a vitamin chart for readers showing the various foods rich in each vitamin and also those foods poor in vitamins. To obtain it just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Barton, Post Office Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y., and ask for your vitamin chart.

"DRIVIN' WOMAN," by Elizabeth Pickett Chevalier

I first heard of Elizabeth Pickett Chevalier's "Drivin' Woman" in a New Haven railway train from the gleeful agent who had the job of peddling the manuscript. The manuscript had everything, the agent declared. What was nicer for Mrs. Chevalier, it got everything: magazine serialization, Literary Guild choice, and before publication a nice fat sum out of Hollywood. The impression was aroused, somehow, that Mrs. Chevalier was a starchy-eyed young thing just starting in the writing game.

She is, however, Wellesley '18, and has behind her a productive career in several fields, including movie writing. This has been a help in the production of "Drivin' Women."

The book began, apparently, with a close analysis of an obscure book by Margaret Mitchell called "Gone With the Wind." Essentially, "Drivin' Women" follows Miss Mitchell's formula with remarkable fidelity. There is a heroine with elastic ideas of the proprieties, poorer than she wants to be, determined to get along, in love with a scapegrace. This time her name is America Moncreux.

There is Fant Annable in Rhett Butler's role, scapegrace as aforementioned. Fant is trying to make a living as a gambler on Mississippi river boats while waiting for his Kentucky relatives to die and leave him their estates. America's and Fant's attachment is much the same as Scarlett's and Rhett's. There is the steady admirer, too, played in "Gone With the Wind" by Leslie Howard, I believe. His name in "Drivin' Women" is Stone Moncreux.

The parallel could be extended quite a space, even to the matter of go-getter background. America and the rest of them are mixed up in tobacco.

The time is a little later than "Gone With the Wind," to wit, the reconstruction period after the war. Mrs. Chevalier provides a remarkably amusing group of Mississippi characters, and her setting shifts from Virginia to Kentucky, and has a certain earthiness the older book lacks. It will make the same kind of movie, and the chief characters can even be played by the same actors, if the producers can forgo another world-wide talent rodeo. Although I did not count words, "Drivin' Women" seems a little shorter than its ancestor, and a little lighter.

Find New Inspiration In Early Furnishings

From the highlands of the Southlands, contemporary furniture designers have uncovered an old and truly American furniture style, which is now being introduced in America's stores. It is called "Southern Highland" furniture, and with it are floor coverings, fabrics and wallpaper, from the same locality.

Scots and Irishmen who came to Virginia a century and a half ago moved westward into the Kentucky hills, into the Great Smoky Mountains of the Carolinas and Tennessee and the Blue Ridge country of Virginia and West Virginia. They brought with them more than a minimum of money, an ability for handicraft, and surprisingly good taste. They produced furniture from the materials readily available, with the styles of the old homelands in mind, but they mingled these with typically American motifs, such as the star and the eagle.

Combines Two Styles

The result in the re-creation of a style which has the sturdiness of the more provincial Early American maple and pine, and the grace of later 18th Century furniture. Most of the furniture was in walnut, and the bulk of the reproductions are in the same wood, given a mellow, russet finish, reminiscent of the original pieces with their hand rubbing, wood smoke and time-treated patina.

Among the pieces found in the Southern Highlands were such uniquely American creations as the "high daddy"—a tall chest of drawers, the "sugar chest"—now used as a wine cabinet; and the "mammy bench"—a wooden settee rocker with a sheltering arm that pegs into the seat to form a cradle.

Use Regional Motifs

The regional motifs feature the "rope and tassel," in carved walnut, and also in woven fabrics; the barber pole and shell, the loop-and-diamond inlay, stars that have five, six or eight points, the "cat track and snail trail" design in coverlets woven of yarns dyed with stain from walnut hulls.

Such outstanding designers as Henry Kostor of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Ernest Swarts of Rockford, Ill., scoured the mountain country, sketching and photographing the original pieces, with the result that complete home groupings today are available for the many discriminating folk who toured the Highland country by motor in pre-war rationing days, and hoped to find reproductions of the early pieces. Not one, but 40 manufacturers' products are being shown in the stores.

Members of 4-H clubs have been asked to collect discarded phonograph records for recording companies, which pay about five and one-half cents a pound for them. This is not a government project.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

One of the most active men in the Ulster County Automobile Club in the years that followed the first World War was the late Elva H. Bogart, who retired from the presidency of the club at the annual meeting in December, 1925, and was succeeded as president by Lamont V. Simpkins of Woodstock.

Mr. Bogart had just been elected president of the New York State Automobile Association, and if memory serves me correctly, he was the first Kingston man to be honored as head of the state association.

I recall that in the years before the first World War, Mr. Bogart was also very active in politics, and for years was one of the leading members of the Democratic party in Kingston.

It is also interesting to recall that Judge Harry E. Schirck had his last session of city court on December 31, 1925, after serving in that office for eight years. In later years Judge Schirck was elevated to the Supreme Court bench, an office he now holds with distinction.

It was during the years that Judge Schirck was serving the city as city judge that he and the late Louis Bruhn organized the old Kingston Colonials, one of the fastest baseball teams ever to represent the city.

Judge Schirck served as captain of the Colonials for several seasons, while Mr. Bruhn served as manager. It was through the efforts of these two men that the Colonials proved the outstanding semi-pro team in this section of the state and were undisputed champions of the Hudson valley.

While the judge and Lou Bruhn headed the Colonials some of the big league teams were brought to Kingston to play exhibition games with the Colonials.

In the years when the Colonials were first organized the squad was composed almost exclusively of local ball players.

Turning from baseball to civic affairs it was in December, 1925, that Mayor Morris Block appointed John Lang of Hunter street as a member of the charity board, as the department of public welfare was then known, to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of J. Leonard Salzmann, the Sycamore street baker.

Older readers will recall the Salzmann bakery on Sycamore street. Mr. Salzmann, in addition to his business duties found time to serve the city on some of the boards, and I recall that he was one of the most active of the charity commissioners during the years he served on the board.

Judge Schirck was succeeded as city judge by Augustus Shufeldt, who assumed the duties of the office on January 1, 1926. Judge Shufeldt for many years has been active in the Republican party, serving as president of the City Republican Club, and also as a member of the civil service board.

Two new training gliders have been accepted for production by the Army Air Forces, it was announced by the War Department today. These gliders, the XTG-3 (Schweizer) and the XTG-4 (Laiter-Kaufmann), are designed to meet the special requirements of the Army Air Forces' expanding glider pilot training program and will be used in the advanced training schools. Both are two-place tandem gliders. The wings, fixed and movable control surfaces, are of wood construction, fabric covered. The fuselages are of welded steel tube construction, also fabric covered.

Investigations of Resort Hotels in the Catskills

Albany, June 30.—The Division of Women in Industry and Minimum Wage of the New York State Department of Labor has opened a temporary office at 231 Broadway, Monticello, N. Y., in order to be able to give informational service to employers, employees and to the general public, in reference to minimum wage regulations in connection with resort hotels in the Catskill area. Miss Kate Papert, director of the division, has assigned Ernest Doerfler, senior investigator, and 15 field investigators to the Monticello office to make the yearly investigations of the resort hotels in the Catskill area and to give information regarding minimum wage rates and regulations in the six industries covered by the Minimum Wage Law and related laws affecting hours of work and days of rest.

The State Department of Labor covers women of all ages and men under 21. Wage orders affecting laundries, beauty parlors, confectionery, dry cleaning and dyeing establishments, restaurants and hotels have so far been promulgated. Special attention will be given this summer to conditions in resort hotels and restaurants.

Under Executive Order No. 6, affecting resort hotels, a rate of $6 per week is set for employees receiving three meals a day and lodging, and working a week of more than three days but not more than six days. Such an employee working seven consecutive days received $7.50 per week. An employee receiving both meals and lodging and working three days or less is paid at the rate of 20 cents an hour. Higher rates exist for workers receiving meals but no lodging or neither meals nor lodging.

Under Directory Order No. 5, governing wages in the restaurant industry, service employees, that is, table waitresses only, receive a basic rate of 20 cents an hour; non-service employees receive a basic rate of 30 cents an hour. Part-time work for both service and non-service employees is compensated at three cents per hour above the basic minimum rate. A part-time employee is one working 24 hours or less in any one week. Time in excess of 45 hours in any week is paid for at one and one-half times the basic minimum hourly rate.

Start Harvesting Of Cannery Peas

Ithaca, N. Y. — Harvesting of peas for canning is now underway in the state and soon will be at its peak in western New York.

Reports from canners show that more than 47,000 acres have been planted for processing, or about one-eighth more than last year and nearly one-third more than two years ago. Compared with the 10-year average, 1930 through 1939, the increase in acreage is nearly 50 per cent.

This shows that pea canners and growers of New York have pretty well carried out their part on the federal program for a big increase in the pack of peas, says Prof. C. B. Raymond of the state college of agriculture. About 11,000 acres were planted with the idea of quick-freezing the peas for

Murray Has Started C.I.O. on Publicity Drive to Influence Steel Industry to His Plan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 30.—The C.I.O., headed by Philip Murray, has started a barrage of publicity attacking the steel industry and designed to prove that the Murray plan for increasing labor's voice in production management should be put into effect.

In order to get momentum for the plan, it becomes necessary for the C.I.O. to discredit the steel industry and to prove that its executives lacked foresight and that the war program is suffering from such lack of planning.

Before the Senate committee investigating defense, headed by Senator Harry Truman of Missouri, an interesting piece of testimony has been offered by Donald Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board. Senator Brewster of Maine had asked if the steel capacity is sufficient to meet the anticipated demand. The record shows this answer and discussion:

"Mr. Nelson: I still, sir, don't have the answer to that question, and I'll tell you why. If we figure the steel required to make the things which we have been given by the army and navy as the things they want plus the other requirements for steel—the very essential, minimum civilian requirements, and of course, that's an area very hard to estimate—if you do that, you have enough ingot capacity to take care of this program. . . . However, as you look at the picture today you see the steel for manufacturing, not only in the first place, you are on a rapidly ascending curve of production. You are filling up the pipe lines for that peak production. In other words, the material which must be in the supply system, the manufacturing system, is very great. I have the feeling that after we get by this curve, this hump, and get into just supplying the steel for manufacturing, not only supplying the excess inventories which must be in places along the line to back it up so that you have the production flowing smoothly, at that time we will be able to take care of the situation."

"Mr. Brewster: How long is it going to take to catch up?"

"Mr. Nelson: Oh, I think about three months. That is another problem that is a very difficult one but we are attacking it vigorously. We have got to prevent excess inventories from piling up in the system, in order words, having one shipyard with more steel plate than it can use in the next two months or forty-five days—whatever the amount of time is necessary for backlog—and another company which is producing rapidly, having none. . . . We have gone into it and we have evidence of it, in every phase—of a lot of maldistribution in every material, too much built up in this pile, too much in that pile, too much in the use of another. . . .

"Senator Truman: Isn't this steel situation somewhat slow due to their failure to realize that we are in a war and carrying on business-as-usual rather than getting read for a war?"

"Mr. Nelson: There is undoubtedly some of that, but let me ask you to reflect. Our hindsight is always good. Two years ago who would have predicted that we were planning to make 125,000 planes in one year? If you will know anybody who had the imagination even to think of it—even the wildest expansionist and I was one of them. . . . I think in the main it is due to the size of the thing that we have undertaken. May we reflect just a moment on that size. We are so different today from what we were in the last war when we could depend upon England for our deficiencies in production, and France and Italy. Today we are the ones who are dependent upon America for the deficiencies. Everybody, with the exception of the Axis powers, looks to us to supply material."

Mr. Nelson has certainly stated the case against the critics who are using hindsight and whose interest today must be to prove that the program is a failure or else their suggestions for a solution will not attract public attention.

The steel industry in America is the highest in the world—three times that of Germany and many times that of Japan. There is plenty of steel for our own military uses but not enough for civilian and military. Certain kinds of steel are short and maldistribution creates certain temporary scarcities, but on the whole America may be thankful that she has an efficient steel industry. Its competent management is responsible for the effective flow of steel today, but will that management remain competent if it must share its responsibility with others who know no financial risks or those who want a state-owned or state-controlled steel industry? These are fundamental questions that lie alongside the current campaign to discredit the steel producers of America.

Area Gets Break In State Book Of Vacationlands

Members of the Ulster county publicity committee are greatly elated at the real "break" the Ulster-Greene Vacationland area has received in the New York State Publicity Bureau's booklet for 1942, which has just been issued.

In addition to a three-page write-up which tells about the recreational facilities of the area and some of its many advantages to those seeking the sport and relaxation the mountain country has to offer, along with its many superb scenic features and points of historic interest, all within easy travel distance from New York city, the book carries 11 pictures of scenes and people in the area.

Outstanding is the fact that two of these illustrations, full page pictures, have been given the most prominent positions in the booklet.

One of them, which occupies the back of the front page, shows an orchard scene at Ulster Park, with one of Ulster county's pretty girls picking apples. The other, which fills the back of the cover, shows the Olive Bridge valley, with High Point mountain in the background. Among other illustrations given in the booklet are Betty Barmann, 1941 apple blossom queen, and two companions in an apple orchard; a picture of the old Senate House, Kingston, with members of the D.A.R. in colonial dress; a view of the Woodstock golf course; scenic view in the Shawangunk Mountains, near Lake Mohonk, and other scenic views.

The pictures were supplied by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. through E. M. Huben, who has shown interest in promoting the attractions of this area for those who are vacation bent. Mr. Huben says that thanks are due to Senator Arthur H. Wickes for the fine cooperation received from him.

These booklets go all over the United States, on request. Persons desiring a copy should write to the State Bureau of Publicity, Albany, for a copy of their 1942 booklet. In addition to this valuable publicity the area has received much publicity as a result of the advertising campaign sponsored by the Ulster County Publicity Bureau.

In addition to the advertising carried in the New York papers, the Times, Herald-Tribune, Sun, Journal American and the Brooklyn Eagle have each carried one or more feature articles on the vacation facilities and points of historic interest in this area.

Already, it is stated, a large number of inquiries have been received by the Ulster County Committee, in answer to the advertising which has been run.

Strange as it may seem, the only

"sour note" is reported to be due to the lack of attention to the whole matter on the part of many of those who directly benefit from all that is being done—the hotel and boardinghouse keepers.

It is stated that despite written requests, telephone calls, etc., copies of folders, circulars and other matters pertaining to these resorts have not been sent in to the Publicity Committee by many of the proprietors.

This material is absolutely necessary if the committee is to answer inquiries received from people in New York city and other localities regarding resorts—their location, accommodations, rates, features of interest and the like.

Mr. Huben makes an urgent request that all hotel and boardinghouse keepers send any publicity matter they may have to the Ulster County Publicity Committee, Court House, Kingston, as soon as possible.

Grant's Organize for July War Stamp Drive

Backing up the July Retailers for Victory Drive, the entire staff of the local W. T. Grant store is thoroughly organized and enthusiastically primed to sell war stamps and bonds in order to reach the goal of an amount equal to four per cent of the store's total July sales. The drive gets under way July 1 at 12 noon, when for 15 minutes, Grant employees in all departments will sell only war stamps—no merchandise of any kind.

"This is really an exciting campaign," Manager D. W. Atwood said today. "As I understand it, there are one million retail stores in 3,300 cities and towns from coast to coast taking part in this gigantic drive to help meet the Treasury Department's billion dollar war bond and stamp quota for July. If they're all as filled with pep and rarin' to go as my staff is, we'll certainly hit that mark."

In New York tomorrow, Mr. Atwood also announced, the W. T. Grant Company will celebrate the start of the Retailers Victory Drive by purchasing another $50,000 worth of War Savings Bonds. This will bring the company's subscription up to $100,000 to date which is the maximum permitted any corporation in the country.

Throughout the country, Grant employees have procured over $300,000 worth of stamps and bonds through the convenient payroll deduction plan put into operation by the company last February.

The ice bag that used to cure your headache can help give a bad one to the Japs. Salvage it from the medicine chest and add it to your rubber scrap heap. And don't say, "Oh, I'll do it tomorrow." Tomorrow will be too late. The rubber salvage campaign ends today.

How Doolittle Got His Start—Dog-Wagon Pilot In The Attic

Wide World Features

Salem, Ore.—Leadership of the American bombing squadron that dropped the first bombs on Japan came to Brig. James H. Doolittle as easily as a political speech to a congressman.

Heading up that raid was what you would expect from a fellow who was a pilot on important solo missions as a little shaver of four—and made of the stuff heroes are hewn from.

Piloting was old stuff to Jimmy Doolittle long before he dreamed of his first pair of long pants and for him it was only a hop, skip and jump from dog-drawn wagon to Uncle Sam's fighting planes.

Mother's Helper

Little Jimmy became a dog-wagon pilot around the turn of the century in Alaska and no one, except his widowed mother, knew any better how important were his missions than Mr. and Mrs. Levi Balmer, who now live here. The Balmers told of this chapter in General Doolittle's life.

They were in Nome during the gold rush when Mrs. Doolittle ran the Little Gem laundry and Jimmy braved the Arctic blasts, toting the laundry in his wagon. It was all the young widow could do to wash and iron, and the rest was up to Jimmy—especially collecting on delivery.

Saloonkeepers and gamblers, usually considered as notorious, if not dangerous, characters of the Alaska gold boom days, gave Jimmy no more pause than than Japanese air defenses do today.

He Collected, Too

Gamblers and saloon proprietors were among Mr. Doolittle's best customers. The Balmers recalled, and little Jimmy would barge right in, let them pick out their packages and hold out his hand until they crossed his palm with gold dust.

Between deliveries Jimmy often accompanied Mrs. Balmer, who was an inveterate amateur photographer. One day they saw a flock of birds in flight, she said, and Jimmy looked up and remarked earnestly: "I could fly like that—except I wouldn't know what to do with my legs."

That was something Uncle Sam taught him to do in flight—and well.

What Is Life To You?

To the preacher, life's a sermon; to the joker, life's a jest; to the miser, life is money; to the loafer life is rest.

To the lawyer, life's a trial; to the poet, life's a song; to the doctor, life's a patient who needs treatment right along.

To the soldier, life's a battle; to the teacher, life's a school; Life's a good thing to the grafter, it's a failure to the fool.

Tramp—Did you ever beg?

Mr. Bizzness—No, of course not.

Tramp—Then you don't know what work is.

An absent-minded bride, anxious not to forget to order two chickens for dinner, repeated to herself while clearing away the breakfast things: Grocer, chickens, grocer, chickens, grocer, chickens. The words became confused in her mind, so that when she went to telephone she asked: "Have you any nice grocers?"

"Why—why—yes," replied an astonished voice at the other end of the wire.

"Well," said the bride, "send me two dressed".

"Dressed?" asked the voice more astonished than before.

"Why, no," responded the bride. "I believe you may send them undressed. If my husband comes home early he will wring their necks and the cook can dress them."

Modifications in Wage Standards for Hotels

New York, June 30.—Modifications of Directory Order No. 6 governing minimum wage standards in the hotel industry, affecting children's camps, will become effective on July 1, 1942, according to an announcement by Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller.

The exclusion of camp counselors in children's camps from coverage in the order and camper-workers in children's camps are involved in the modifications. Miss Miller explained that experience in enforcing the terms of this order, as well as a complete study since the order went into effect in November, 1940, had proved that the standards provided by this Minimum Wage Order would not be jeopardized by these modifications.

No opposition was voiced at a public hearing which was held to give interested persons an opportunity to discuss the proposed modifications.

Miss Miller explained that camp counselors in such camps fall into three groups: Full-fledged counselors; counselors who are receiving some additional training; and junior counselors who are assisting the other counselors and also receiving supervision and training. Many camp counselors are volunteers and as such do not come within the order. Junior counselors are also exempt from the order.

In enforcing Directory Order No. 6, Miss Miller explained that it had been found that many camps use campers to perform certain duties, otherwise they participate in the regular camp activities but in return for part-time services, pay reduced fees or no fees at all. The average number of hours spent by such campers is limited to four hours a day, which need not unreasonably interfere with participation in camp activities. It is believed that excluding such campers from the terms of the order would give them an opportunity to enjoy camp life which might otherwise be denied to them.

Kingston Ranks High in Ratio of U. S. Home Owners

New York, June 30 (Special).—A greater proportion of Kingston's population own the homes they live in and the homes are more modern, although in greater need of repair, than are dwellings in most cities in the nation, according to final figures just issued by the Department of Commerce in reporting the results of the 1940 Decennial Census.

Of the 8,217 occupied dwellings in the city, 3,834, or 46.7 per cent, are owned by their occupants. This compares favorably with the national figure for cities, 37.5 per cent.

Only 27.4 per cent of the 8,616 homes in the city, occupied and unoccupied, have no private baths, as against 46.0 per cent in the nation at large. Major repairs—of the type whose continued neglect would impair the soundness of the structure—were found by the Census Bureau to be necessary in more than 11.5 per cent of the cases in other cities, but in Kingston 19.0 per cent were in need of repair.

Slightly fewer of the owner-occupied homes in Kingston are under mortgage, the figures show. The comparison is 48.4 per cent in the city mortgage and an average of nearly 50 per cent in other cities.

Sanford Reports 35 Measles Cases Within 2 Months

During the month of June there have been 28 cases of measles reported to the Board of Health, it was stated today by Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer. During May there were seven cases reported making a total to date of 35 cases in Kingston.

Dr. Sanford said that measles is very contagious, especially during the first few days before the rash appears. It is transmitted largely through close contact with one having the disease as the infecting organisms are present in the discharges from the nose and throat.

Measles is very dangerous, said Dr. Sanford, to children under three years of age because of complications which may occur. Encephalitis is one of these which often results fatally. The incubation period is the time from the exposure until symptoms develop, usually 9 to 12 days.

Dr. Sanford said that the disease as a rule begins with symptoms of a cold in the head, discharge from the nose and inflamed eyes and a cough. There may or not be fever. The disease is very communicable during this stage.

The eruption or rash does not appear until three or four days after the onset, and is noticed as a course, blotchy rash appearing first on the face and neck and extending down to the chest and on the body.

By the time this occurs the child has communicated the disease to all with whom he has come in contact. It is therefore urged, said Dr. Sanford, that parents watch their children, especially those who have been exposed, for the early signs of measles.

If these signs appear the child should be kept at home and isolated from other children until recovery, usually seven days.

All cases should be reported at once to the health department by the attending physician or by the parents. By this means only can the spread of the disease be checked.

Proper nursing and medical care are of the utmost importance, said Dr. Sanford, in order to avoid complications.

Milk Increase Announced

New York, June 30 (AP)—An increase of a half-cent a quart in the retail price of milk will go in effect tomorrow in New York city and Nassau, Suffolk, Westchester and Rockland counties, the Borden and Sheffield Companies announced last night. The advance will bring the price to 17 cents a quart on retail home delivery and 15½ cents a quart in two-quart bottles. These prices correspond to the O. P. A. ceiling for March. The milk companies explained the higher price was the result of an increase granted to producers of from $2.85 a hundredweight to $3.10 a hundredweight on Class I fluid-milk by the federal-state marketing administrator who regulates the handling of milk in this area.

O'Neill Advises Local 17 Workers To Give Evidence

Union Men Intimidated, Says Official, Should Remember That Law Is With Them

Speaking Sunday before 200 members of Local 17, Hodcarriers' and Laborers' Union, meeting in Kerhonkson, Assistant Attorney General Edward G. O'Neill of Newburgh, revealed that members of the union have been intimidated and threatened with the loss of their jobs or physical violence as a penalty for aiding the Attorney General's office in its investigation of the union's financial affairs.

Mr. O'Neill, who is in charge of the special probe office set up in Newburgh to inquire into union activities, promised union men that the law would protect them against reprisals for testifying before any grand jury or for any investigator working on the investigation.

"In the last few weeks we have been getting stories that men have been prevented or discouraged from giving information under threats that it might cost them their jobs or might cost them some other connecting or might, in fact, result in physical violence," Mr. O'Neill declared at a meeting of the union in Kerhonkson.

Wants Data

"I have said on a great many occasions that the Attorney General has no clients except the people of the state, but any intimidation, any attempt to tamper with witnesses, is very much our business and we will see that we make it our business. So I want to tell you that if you have any story that you feel we should have, we want to hear it."

Offers Protection

"We will see that the source of the story is protected. We will see that you do not suffer harm because you have cooperated with law enforcement. Whatever steps may be necessary to see that you are protected from any harm, economic or physical, as a result of your information or testimony, we will take, so you may give your information relying on that promise."

The Ulster County Grand Jury has already begun its investigation of union affairs, and a number of union men has appeared before that body during the past month.

Mr. O'Neill spoke before some 200 members of the union. Kenneth Canfield, president of the organization, presided.

The state prosecutor told unionists that "the operation of your union is your business—not mine, provided it is operated honestly and in accordance with law." He pointed out that over a four-year period large sums of money were collected in dues from union members, but that the union's treasury now is empty.

Workers Prepare Camp Happyland For July Opening

Workers have been busy for the past 10 days at Camp Happyland where some minor repairs and improvements had to be made in preparation for the children from Kingston and Ulster county who will come to the health camp as the guests of the Christmas Seal Committee during July and August.

Because of the war conditions, the Tuberculosis Association is making only the most necessary improvements, painting etc. However, the quarters now shine, having had their usual scrubbing and treatment of good "soap and water" and are in readiness, awaiting the guests who have been recommended for this care and training.

Because of the large number of applications received this year additional room has been provided for sleeping quarters so that a greater number of children may be accommodated.

Tomorrow 50 boys will meet at the Academy Park and will be transported by bus to Camp Happyland. The Tuberculosis Association will play host to these children for four weeks when the same number of girls will come to the health camp for four weeks during August.

Already counselors have planned many happy events for the vacation period, while the up-building of these frail bodies is carried on.

This year the Tuberculosis Association plans to use the new movie projector, which was purchased to exhibit health pictures to various groups throughout the county in the health education program. Special children's comedies will be produced and combined with health movies they will be shown various evenings during the season. Handicraft, dramatics and entertainment will also be among the events of the day's routine and program.

Plan to Save Tires, Trucks

Groups Start Program for Voluntary Savings

Ithaca, N. Y. — Organized agricultural groups throughout the state will move immediately to form plans to help farmers save tires, trucks, and equipment.

This was agreed at a meeting at Cornell attended by representatives of dairy organizations, egg and poultry cooperatives, feed dealers associations, regional marketing officials, extension service representatives, and others. The meeting was called by Ralph Y. DeWolfe, chairman of the New York War Board of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The plan is to have each organization, such as co-ops handling farm supplies, milk plants, feed dealers, and egg and poultry co-ops, deal first with their own patrons in planning ways to save tires and trucks. It may involve changed schedules, different routes, a revision of hauling practices, pooling arrangements, return-trip loads, clearing house systems for marketings, and other possibilities, it was pointed out.

The effort is to bring about voluntary savings and make it unnecessary for the Office of Defense Transportation to impose regulations similar to those in effect on other than farm trucks. Once the plan is started, it will be developed possibly on a community-wide basis with all organizations cooperating to see if still further savings can be made, Mr. DeWolfe said.

The state war board chairman appointed the following committee to follow the progress of the rubber-and-truck-saving plan: Paul Solleck, Eastern milk producers cooperative, Canton, Pa.; Dr. Kenneth Shaul, Associated independent milk producers, Cobleskill; S. R. Farley of New York city, representing the Dairyman's league cooperative association; Charles Baldwin, Metropolitan milk products bargaining agency, Syracuse; A. W. Carpenter, Eastern federation of feed merchants, Sherburne; E. J. Koehnlein, Northeastern states feed manufacturers association, Buffalo; Robert Woods, ONCO egg and poultry co-op, Syracuse; Harold D. Babcock, egg interests of the G. L. F., Ithaca; Edward Fallon, farm supplies and petroleum, G. L. F., Ithaca; Don Ward, central New York regional market, Syracuse; E. S. Foster, New York state farm bureau federation, Ithaca.

Advisors appointed were Dr. M. C. Bond and Professors J. A. Cope and R. F. Fricke of the state college of agriculture at Cornell.

Seriousness of the tire and truck situation was pointed out by Mr. Fricke who said that when present trucks wear out, there will be no more for the auction. The outlook for tires is just as bad, he said.

"We want to make sure we will have transportation on farms for essential uses. Savings must be made to insure it."

Loquacious Love
Sebring, Fla.—"Hi-Life," publication of Hendricks Field here, tells about a letter received by the sweetheart of a soldier doing his duty in the Pacific war zone. The letter had passed through the usual censor routine in California.

On opening the envelope, the lady found a narrow slip of paper on which was written: "Your boy friend still loves you, but he talks too much." The slip was signed "Censor."

Swan Song
St. Louis—The fireman's band is disbanding after 20 years. Twice-a-week practice sessions with few opportunities to play proved too monotonous.

Even more depressing, said Fire Chief Joseph W. Morgan, was the fact that the major activity of the group in recent years was the playing of dirges at the funerals of firemen.

The Speeding Tortoise

Kansas City—John F. Rhodes, state bar president, is a living example of the utility of haste, he admits.

In days gone by, he drove as fast as 70 miles per hour in stretches to make the 20-mile trip from home to office in 40 minutes.

Then talk of tire conservation slowed his top speed to 60, then to 50, and now to 40.

Time required for home-to-office? Still 40 minutes.

Busy Bridgroom

Sante Fe, N. M.—Charles E. Catt of Vaughn will no doubt recall his wedding anniversary.

It was the day he:

1. Was married to Clara M. Archette, by Justice T. J. Mabry of the State Supreme Court.

2. Joined the navy.

3. Was licensed to practice law in New Mexico.

Self-Snatcher

Reno, Nev.—A purse snatcher grabbed a purse, fled across the street.

It was the wrong direction.

He was cornered at the door of the sheriff's office.

Voice of Authority

Denver—Women are fine flag wavers, says engineer R. A. H.

of the federal roads administration.

Women were hired to slow traffic on a Wyoming road project, and—

"The men sure stop fast when they see the gals."

Help! O. P. A.!

Salt Lake City — Maybe your rent isn't so bad. A Salt Lake man paid $10 for one night—in the city jail.

He asked to be admitted for the night. Then the desk sergeant snuffed.

In the morning the man was fined $10 for intoxication.

Sour Note Rhapsody

Chicago — The nation's piano tuners are eyeing a $30,000,000 bonanza they estimate the war emergency will put in their pockets for keeping sour notes out of homes.

Alfred H. Uteberg, president of the American Society of Piano Tuner-Technicians, said "with transition of piano manufacturing to war production, America's music lovers are going to have to make the pianos they have now last for the emergency." Six million pianos in use now, he said, at $5 a tuning job adds up to $30,000,000.

War Curtails Burlap Bags

More Paper and Cotton Substitutes Available

Ithaca, N. Y.—Farmers will have to depend largely on bags made of substitutes for burlap, on odd-size bags, and on re-use of old bags, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Due to the war emergency and lack of shipping space which limit importations of no more heavy weight burlap for agricultural bags is available this year, the announcement says.

Agricultural bags that require light weight burlap are now available in small quantities possibly as late as December 1942. Paper used in the manufacture of bags for agricultural purposes has also been restricted, but a preference order covering the allocation of wood pulp, has provided enough tonnage to meet immediate agricultural demands.

Part of the price difference between burlap and cotton bags can be overcome by getting the most use out of the cotton bags now available, the department points out. Re-use of burlap and other bags on hand is urged.

Gasoline Taxes Are Less

Albany, N. Y., June 30 (AP)—New York's gasoline taxes for April drew $1,000,000 less than a year ago, although rationing had not yet gone into effect. The tax department reports collections of $5,000,000 this April, compared to $6,173,000 for April, 1941.

Bombers Cripple Jap-Held Wake

Meehan, Whose Family Lives at Newburgh, Reports on Destruction

Headquarters Hawaiian Air Force, June 30 (AP)—American Army bombers, striking at the enemy in probably the longest over-water bombing flight ever made, have dealt new destruction to tiny Wake Island, which the Japanese seized at a high cost last December 23.

Sweeping over the strategic atoll under full moonlight last Saturday night, the bombers hit all their targets, set the main building afire, leveled everything on the surface, and returned to their base without casualties and without the loss of a plane.

Col. Art W. Meehan, pilot of one of the bombers and a former quarterback at West Point, said it "probably was the longest range over-water bombing flight ever achieved." Wake is 2,000 nautical miles west of Pearl Harbor and a little more than 1,000 miles southwest of Midway Island.

Announcement of the raid was made by headquarters of the Hawaiian Air Force yesterday after all the planes had returned safely.

It was the second American attack on Wake since the Japanese overwhelmed its gallant Marine Corps garrison after a heroic 14-day defense.

The first, made by navy planes from a task force last February 24, pounded shore installations to bits, damaged the airfield and wrecked several small boats. Col. Meehan said Saturday night's raid "crippled this Japanese stepping stone at least until the Japs can repair the damage and fly in new planes. "We gave them everything we took over." Meehan is from Indianapolis. His wife and two children are living in Newburgh, N. Y., with her mother.

YOUR COMPANY, A Local Enterprise, APPRECIATED BY THE NATION

In black states live people who own a share in Central Hudson!

A few weeks ago we published an interesting fact about your company... that it is a locally owned enterprise managed by local men. That's true! In 137 communities in the Central Hudson Valley there are 4,379 people who own a share in it.

But it's more than that. In 35 states of the Union and in Canada and Alaska live people who also own a share in it!

The high esteem in which this company is held by this band of neighbors, both near and far, speaks well of its standards of dependability, of continuity of service, and of devotion to community development and advancement.

Today your company is an essential war industry. For years, with the help of every stockholder, the management has built and enlarged and strengthened the facilities for everyone's service. Now, in this crisis, your company has met and supplied every war production demand... in every part of the Central Hudson Valley gas and electricity are being turned into materials that help strengthen the nation's stand.

Safeguard tomorrow by buying United States War Savings Bonds and Stamps today. Stamps for sale at all company offices.

SPECIAL CARE OF FURNISHINGS SEEN ADVISABLE IN WAR TIME

Now that we must all take special care of our possessions because we may not be able to get replacements, it is well for a bride or other new house-owner, to consider the question of furnishings from this angle. To a bride who says she loves light paint, and fresher, gay chintzes but supposes she ought to choose dark woods and fabrics because light things are so perishable, I can say: In a simple type of house in which the paint is put on as it comes in the can, keeping it freshly "touched up" is very easy. As is also the cleaning (or washing) of chintz slip covers. Moreover, I have often noted that people instinctively avoid giving light-colored objects as hard usage as that given to things that look less spoilable.

It Would Be Cruel
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it out of order for a second wife to go with her husband to the funeral of her husband's son? This would necessitate seeing his first wife and also her relatives who naturally must resent the second wife even though she had nothing whatever to do with the rift between the husband and his first wife. But unless her presence is an impropriety, she is willing to risk any coolness they may show her, to go with her husband on this very sad mission.

Answer: Reading between the lines, as it were, of this letter, I think it would be better if another member of his family went with him. His sister, for example, if he has one, or his most intimate man friend. Otherwise I think it would be very hard indeed for the mother of the body. If I were you I would wait in a car (or elsewhere) nearby, so that I could join my husband just as soon as he leaves the cemetery. In other words I think it would be cruel to stand anywhere near the boy's mother.

Leaving Cards at Tea
Dear Mrs. Post: How many visiting cards should I leave at a tea given for three guests—two are daughters of the hostess and one a daughter-in-law. I know all of them well except the daughter-in-law, in case that makes a difference in your answer.

Answer: Correctly, you leave three cards; one for the hostess, one for the two daughters, and one for the daughter-in-law. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Orkoff's Register

2nd Straight Win Over U.B.K., 7-6

Winners Pound Weiner for Two Big Runs in Late Innings for Victory

At Hasbrouck Park Sunday the Orkoff's All Stars scored a long sought for victory over the previously unbeaten U.B.K. squad by the score of 7 to 6. The Orkoffs won the series in two straight contests.

In yesterday's game the U.B.K. team had a 6 to 5 lead as late as the seventh inning and thought that they had the game wrapped up despite the close score.

The U.B.K. outfit found themselves on the short end, however, as the Orkoffs blasted across two big runs in the next inning to hand their opponents a staggering loss.

After the two-run spurge had given the Orkoffs the heated victory, their opponents folded up completely and were easy out for Lewis and the rest of the battle.

The batting feature of the game was a tremendous home run drive into deep right field off the bat of Ben Orkoff. Lewis and Amato formed the winning battery while Weiner and Kaplan worked for the U.B.K.

"Sure, I think it's as good a club as last year. It should be. We lost Johnny Sturm off first, is all, and Buddy Hassett has played great ball in his place. The only trouble now is that we're in a slump. Keller and DiMaggio aren't hitting like they should, but the other clubs can't count on that lasting very long."

"We're a little weak on south-paw pitching. Marius Russo has a kink in his shoulder and the doctor says nothing but rest will get it well, so we don't know when he will be back. Phil Rizzuto has a strained tendon in his leg and won't be back on short for a few days. But it's nothing to worry about. Red Rolfe went in and played a fine game the other day and seems to be about well. Nothing has happened to Joe Gordon, thank goodness."

Barrow always perks up noticeably when the conversation swings around to his second baseman. Sometimes gruff, his voice softens with real admiration when he talks about Joe.

"I guess the only second baseman I could compare with Gordon would be Nap Lajoie. He had the same grace in his movements as I had. For that matter, Charlie Gehringer and Eddie Collins were great second basemen, too. But if I had my choice of the four of them at best I would take Gordon. He takes charge of ball games and wins them for you, that boy does."

Moore Softies Win At Barmann's Park Sunday afternoon the Moose softball team defeated the Grills by the score of 12 to 2. # Boston Braves Accept Invitation to Play Kingston Recs

National Leaguers Expected to Sign For August 6 Date

Mohawk Giants Engage Locals on Wednesday; Springfield Greys Here July 4

The word that has been long-awaited by all local and district baseball fans—that a major league baseball club would appear here some time this season—was announced this morning by a Kingston Recreation spokesman, who said that Manager Casey Stengel's Boston Braves of the National League have accepted an invitation to meet the Recreations in an exhibition game Thursday, August 6.

The National League club is expected to sign the contract to appear here when a mutual adjustment of a guarantee is settled in the very near future. Local club officials and members of the Braves are expected to meet soon to talk over the proposition.

Should the Braves come here, and at the present time there is every indication that they will, local fans will see such National League stars as Tommy Holmes, formerly the property of the New York Yankees; Chas. Ross, Manny Fernandez, young third baseman; Max West, Frank Demaree, former Giant; Eddie Miller, ace shortstop; Skippy Roberge, Manny Salvo, Ernie Lombardi, Jim Tobin and Paul Waner.

Bushwicks Will Play Here

News from the Recreation camp this morning also announced that the famous Bushwicks, who have trimmed the Recs in three games this year, will make their annual appearance in Kingston on either Tuesday, July 21, or Thursday, July 24. The definite date of the game will be announced in a day or two.

After this news had been released by the local semi-pro club, members of the team will settle back and await Wednesday night's arduous game at the stadium against Hank Bozzi's Mohawk Colored Giants. The Recs defeated the Giants earlier in the season by the score of 3 to 2 with Bobby Bush doing the mowing work.

Manager Joe Hoffman won't be able to use Bush tomorrow night as he is in the armed forces now. However, the Rec skipper has selected Whitey Tulacz, who hurled himself a neat victory over the Cubans last week. Tulacz showed his spirit in caging that win after the Cubans had bounced him for five of their seven runs in the first frame. After that the veteran flinger was in rare form.

Greys Here July 4

Following the Mohawks, the Springfield Greys, members of the M. B. A., will come into the stadium Saturday night, July 4, for a gala holiday attraction. The Greys have beaten the Bushwicks in two out of three games this year, losing the one by 1-0 in 10 innings. Last year Springfield blasted the Recs by 13 to 4 in that big Booster's Night game.

Detroit Proposes To Cut Out Spring Training Schedule

Detroit, June 30 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers came to bat today with proposals that the baseball season of 1943 be reduced by two months and that the southern spring training program be abandoned.

Offering each as a war measure, General Manager Jack Zeller of the Tigers said he would present his ideas to the annual midsummer meeting of the American League club owners in New York July 6.

One dovetails into the other, Zeller said, with the spring training to be carried on in the park at home during the period which now constitutes the first month of the playing schedule. Under Zeller's plan, the season also would finish a month earlier.

Leads Rec Batters

ERNE DOWNER

Ernie Downer, centerfielder for the Kingston Recreations, tops the club in the hitting department with a cool average of .353. Downer has rapped out 10 hits in 28 trips to the plate. He'll be ready for action again Wednesday night at the municipal stadium when Hank Bozzi's Mohawk Colored Giants come to town. Against the Bushwicks Sunday, Downer came through with four hits.

Redeemers to Play Hurley Tonight at Hasbrouck Pasture

St. James and Presbys Are Tied for Lead in Men's Federation Softball Loop

Three games were played in last week's schedule of the Men's Federation Softball League. St. James scored a 16 to 11 victory over Redeemer, the Presbyterians won by 9 to 6 over the Lutherans and Fair Street humbled Port Ewen by 18 to 5. The Hurley-Baptist score was not reported to the officials.

The standings this week show St. James and Presbyterians in a tie for first place with identical records of five wins and one loss. Fair Street is in third with four and two.

This week Hurley takes on St. James. Fair Street plays the Presbyterians, the Baptists engage Port Ewen, Redeemers meet the Lutherans. The postponed game between Hurley and Redeemer will be played tonight at the upper diamond in Hasbrouck Park.

Following are the standings:

| Team          | W | L | Pct. |

Sports Shorts

Birmingham, Ala., June 30 (AP)—There'll be no complaints of pop bottle bargains, henceforth, when Southern Association teams play at Birmingham's Richwood Field. Concessionaire managers have been instructed to sell bottled soft drinks in paper cups—and keep the bottles.

Thomasville, N. C., June 30 (AP)—Perhaps Joe Swicegood, Thomasville soda-shop manager, plays less than perfect golf, but he gets results.

Playing his home course, he hooked a drive off the sixth tee, found his ball near a creek crossing the fairway. It had all but decapitated a large bullfrog.

San Francisco, June 30 (AP)—Idaho and Montana may find themselves dropped from four California Pacific Coast Conference football schedules next fall—if the naval pre-flight school team at St. Mary's gets the games it wants.

The navy school has asked to play Stanford October 17, date set for an Idaho game; University of California November 14, date of a Montana game; University of Southern California December 5, date of that school's Montana game; and University of California at Los Angeles, October 3, scheduled for Idaho.

Officials of the four California schools and the navy withheld comment.

Ferraro Rolls 623 Triple in Canine Matches Last Night

Charlie Tiano Registers 244 High Single at Central Rec Alleys in Summer League

At the Central Recreation alleys last night in the Canine Bowling League Johnny Ferraro, anchor of the Bull Dogs, polished off the highest triple of the night when he poured out games of 190, 219 and 214 for a 623 three-game total. Ferraro helped his club to breeze along to three straight victories over the Whippets.

The high single of the night belonged to Charlie Tiano, anchor man of the Police Dogs. He blasted the maples for 168, 187 and followed up with a sensational 244 single. Tiano's total was 599. His club, however, dropped two games to the Terriers.

Although none of the Greyhound keglers managed to hit the coveted 500 triple mark last night, they won two games from the Cocker Spaniels. Jim Roe was high for the winners with a 493 total. Helen Smart rapped out the highest single with her even 200 game. B. Townsend starred for the losers with a high single of the match of 201 and high triple of 530.

George Robinson was on the firing end of a 190 and 527 score last night for the Scotties as they took all three games from the Great Danes. Robinson, bowling anchor for the winners, had games of 188, 149 and his final of 190. Evelyn Provenzano came in second with 525 on scores of 162, 189 and 174. Jake Senor was the only other 500 bowler in the match with his 512.

Eight Grid Games Scheduled Between Army, Pro Elevens

East and West Personnel of Service Players Are Included; Proceeds to Relief Fund

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Two Army football teams, representing eastern and western personnel of the service, will play a schedule of eight contests with clubs of the National Pro League next fall, Grantland Rice, president of the War Football Fund, announced today.

All proceeds from the games will go to the Army Emergency Relief Fund.

The western team's schedule: August 30, Washington Redskins at Los Angeles; September 5 or 6, Chicago Cardinals at Denver; September 9, Detroit Lions at Detroit; September 13, Green Bay Packers at Madison, Wis.; September 20, New York Giants at New York; September 27, Detroit Lions at Detroit.

The eastern team's schedule: September 12, New York Giants at New York; September 16, Brooklyn Dodgers at Jersey City; September 20, Chicago Bears at Boston.

One or two other games may be added to the eastern team's slate. Ray McCarthy, sports coordinator in the army emergency relief set-up, said the two service teams may meet each other after winning their contests with the pros.

The squads will be brought together early in August for three sions. The western outfit probably will train in Los Angeles and the eastern outfit may prepare for the season at West Point, N. Y.

The War Football Fund, sponsor of the scheduled contests with the pros, is a non-profit New York corporation serving army emergency relief in an advisory capacity. Rice, famous sports columnist, heads the corporation. John Kieran, New York sports writer, is vice president, and George E. Warren, New York banker, is the treasurer.

Protest Meeting Slated

The protest claim between the Fair Street softball team and the First Baptists, will be settled at a meeting Wednesday night. It was reported Saturday that the Fair Street club had been awarded the protest, but now it appears as though his statement was made without any official backing by the league officials.

How to Use Less

Sugar for Canning

Canning more fruit with less sugar is a wartime problem for housewives this summer. Juice from well ripened fruit may be used in place of part or all of the sugar sirup. In spite of sugar rationing the government is encouraging the home canning of more fruit to improve family diets and health, and to help relieve the country's wartime transportation load. Home economists suggest ways to stretch sugar in canning.

Can more fruit and preserve less. Canning fruit or juice requires less sugar than making jellies, jams, marmalades and preserves. Fruit or fruit juice may be canned successfully with little or no sweetener.

Fruit may also be canned with just enough sugar-sirup in each jar to give a slightly sweet flavor and the rest of the space filled with juice. Cook fruit in an open kettle to draw out the juice, and then pack hot and cover with hot juice.

Mild-flavored sirups like honey or corn sirup may be used in canning fruit. Honey or corn sirup may be substituted for as much as half the sugar in canning, but a larger proportion of sirup will mask the delicate fruit flavor—as will a sirup with a distinctive flavor, such as maple, sorghum, or molasses. Saccharine, a coal tar product with a very sweet taste, cannot be used in canning because it becomes bitter when heated.

Search for Oil Clues In Mud of Seabottom

The discovery of brilliantly colored pigments of red, green and other colors, in the 8,000-year-old seabottom muds has lent emphasis to studies at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography in La Jolla, Calif., to discover what chemical organisms are at work in the complete darkness of the black mud.

Dr. Denis L. Fox, assistant professor of biochemistry, reports that ancient materials of biological origin, preserved by the nature of the environment from destruction by oxygen, light or heat, may account for the colored specimens of mud. Whether oil is formed by micro-organisms or the same agencies which produce this material, is a question occupying not only Dr. Fox but Dr. Claude E. Zobell, assistant professor of marine microbiology, and Dr. H. U. Sverdrup, director of the institution.

The presence of many chlorophyll derivatives and carotenoids in the sea deposits has opened several lines of investigation, according to Dr. Fox.

Teachers Need 'Basic Principles'

Teacher training institutions spend too much time on the technical details of the fundamental principles of education, according to Dr. Frank A. Butler, associate professor of education, at the Pennsylvania State college. "Instead of telling future teachers how to make assignments, how to ask questions, how to gain attention, how to take attendance, and how to seat pupils, we should give them such basic principles as the need for a goal, emphasis on individual differences, integration of subjects, and the importance of education as growth," Dr. Butler said today.

Given native intelligence and a pleasing personality, teachers can be taught the science of education as they can be taught to drive a car, he said. Criticism of our teacher training centers and evidences of poor teaching in the public schools show the need for a change in emphasis in educational courses, he believes.

Louis Binger

One of the founders of the French Sudanese empire was Louis Gustave Binger (1856-1936), an African explorer born in Strasbourg, France. He was the first European to explore Kong and disproved the accepted theory that there were mountains in that region. In 1897 he started from Bamaku, explored Sikasso, visited Barro and Wagadugu in 1899 and reached Grand Bassam in 1899. Binger was responsible for placing Tieba, Kong, and Boutouk under French protection. In recognition of his work as a pioneer in those lands, the French government made him commissioner for the settlement of Ashanti boundaries with England in 1892. He was named governor of the French territory on the Ivory Coast from 1893 to 1908.

Jaguars

Jaguars do not often attack people, but cases are on record where they have done so. It is believed they are afraid to attack men unless driven by great hunger. The small piglike animals called peccaries are victims of jaguars, but the big cats are careful about the way they attack a herd. Peccaries stand together in the face of danger, and could kill even a jaguar if it did not get out of the way in a hurry. When hunting peccaries, a jaguar leaps into a herd and seizes one of them in its mouth. Then it climbs a tree as fast as possible and waits until the rest of the peccaries go away. Jaguars have been shot in California and Texas, but they are rare north of Mexico.

Street Closed

Murray street, between Hasbrouck avenue and Jarrold street, has been closed to traffic for a few days, while employees of the Board of Public Works are regrading the street. Acting Superintendent Max Oppenheimer of the board notified the police and fire departments Monday of the closing of that part of Murray street.

almost down to the day of her death."

Those who sought to break the will were Mrs. E. Hollingsworth Siter, sister-in-law of Mrs. Paton, and two nieces, Mrs. Mary S. Owen and Mrs. Elizabeth S. Pemberton, all of Philadelphia. Under the will, Mrs. Paton's two nieces received $5,000 each and $15,000 was bequeathed to E. Hollingsworth Siter.

After the verdict, the rector said he would go to Camp Smith, Peekskill, N. Y., to serve as chaplain in the New York Guard for the rest of the summer and would resume his duties at his church since before the trial started.

The will provided that Dr. Darlington should receive Mrs. Paton's country estate "Nirvana" at Irvington-on-Hudson, but under the compromise this property would go to Rauch.

A 20 per cent share in the residuary estate went to Dr. Richard Townley Paton of New York, a cousin of Mrs. Paton's late husband, but under the compromise of that share.

Originally bequeathed 40 per cent of the residuary estate, Rauch now would receive 61 per cent through the compromise which was reached before the will contest was instituted.

Counsel for the contestants said an appeal would be taken.

F.D.R. Has Tea With Queen of Netherlands

Washington, June 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt, the White House announced today, had tea yesterday with Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands at Lee, Mass., where Crown Princess Juliana has a summer home.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early issued this brief statement: "The President, who was in Hyde Park yesterday (Monday), motored to Lee, Mass., had tea with Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands and her family, and returned to Hyde Park before dinner."

The President's family home is at Hyde Park, N. Y. Early said he did not know when Queen Wilhelmina might come to Washington.

Red Cross Report Given

Washington, June 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt submitted to Congress today a report of the American Red Cross showing that more than 15,000,000 persons in Europe, Asia and Africa had received "effective assistance" through that organization. The report said the value of the foreign war relief made available to all foreign countries by the American Red Cross as of April 30, 1942, totaled $60,732,194.

Shrub to Be Grown

As Rubber Source

A native American plant, which for years has been of minor importance as a source of rubber, may be coming into its own in the emergency. The lowly desert shrub guayule (the pronunciation "wy-OO-yay" is about as close as English can come to the Spanish word) got the green light in March, 1942, when congress authorized the department of agriculture to develop the plant as a source of rubber for the United Nations.

Cultivation of guayule—now almost entirely a wild plant—is the essence of the program, says Dr. E. W. Brandes, in charge of rubber investigations, writing in the department publication, "Agriculture in the Americas." A substantial acreage is planned, but Dr. Brandes points out that guayule can be grown successfully only in the western and southwestern parts of the United States and in the countries south of it.

The immediate program, he says, calls for maintenance of the present 560 acres of plantings in the Salinas valley of California; additional commercial plantings as soon as an increased seed supply permits; and test plantings to find suitable producing areas in California, Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and in Mexico; also tests in Argentina, Chile, and possibly other countries of the Western hemisphere, where natural conditions seem favorable.

Aerial Bombing Born During World War I

Bombers, the backbone of the army air force, are heavy artillery on wings, designed to carry destruction to the enemy's industrial areas, transportation, lines of communication, and other vital points.

Aerial bombing as an organized weapon of offensive warfare was born in the World War. In the first year of the war, the few planes in action were used almost exclusively for observation purposes, and were not even armed. Pilots of opposing sides often would wave to each other in passing. As bitterness increased, the fliers took to shooting at each other with pistols. Then came machine guns.

The first bombs were ineffective, and bombings, when used at all, were crude, so that the results were pretty much on a hit-or-miss basis—more noise than damage.

After the World War, the army air corps continued building and experimenting with bigger and better, harder-hitting bombing planes. In 1921 a Martin bomber, in a test off the Virginia Capes, dropped a ton of bombs on the obsolete battleship Alabama, and sank it. Each succeeding year, army air corps pilots were at the controls of bombers that flew faster and with a greater bomb load. The uncannily accurate American bombsight was an accompaniment.

Plowing on the Contour Pastures and meadows which are subject to erosion and which are plowed for the production of corn or soybeans can often be plowed on the contour, leaving buffer strips of sod to mark the contour lines and wide grass waterways in the draws that tend to erode. The use of contour farming with contour buffer strips, 18 feet to 30 feet wide, and grass waterways not only helps to reduce soil erosion losses, but also makes contour farming much more satisfactory by reducing point rows and making possible turns in the contour rows and grass waterways. Furthermore, this practice permits cultivating the more productive parts of the field and leaving out those areas low in productivity, gulled or so steep that they can not profitably be farmed without excessive wear and tear on the machinery.

Fund for Transients

Bryan Mullaphy's will, executed in August, 1849, provided that: "I, Bryan Mullaphy, do make and declare the following to be my last will and testament: One equal undivided third of all my property, real, personal and mixed, I leave to the city of St. Louis, in the State of Missouri, in trust, to be and constitute a fund to furnish relief to all poor immigrants and travelers coming to St. Louis on their way, bona fide, to settle in the West." Mr. Mullaphy died June 15, 1851, and the city of St. Louis accepted the trust fund on November 16, 1857, as the Bryan Mullaphy Emigrant and Travelers' Relief fund. The trust maintains and operates the Mullaphy Travelers' Aid society and cooperates with the National Travelers' Aid society.

Plaque Is Unveiled

"First of our countrymen to fight the forces of oppression," it reads, in part. Among parents of Eagles at the ceremony was Quimby Tobin, father of the late Pilot Officer Gene Q. Tobin, first American to shoot down a German plane in this war.

Rommel's Drive Meets Resistance

ain's ace "trouble shooter," Gen. Auchinleck superseded Lieut.-Gen. Neil M. Ritchie, field commander in the disastrous Libyan campaign.

While the news from the Egyptian battle theatre remained ominous, Soviet dispatches reported that the heroic defenders of Sevastopol had staged an eleventh-hour rally when the situation appeared verging on catastrophe and had smothered a 48-hour assault by German shock troops.

Subsequently, a Nazi communiqué asserted that German forces attacking from the north had penetrated Sevastopol's inner defense ring, crossing Sewernaja Bay "in the face of stubborn enemy resistance."

A midday bulletin from Red army headquarters said the Germans lost 1,500 men in attempts to breach Sevastopol's defenses and declared Soviet counterattacks sent "the Hitlerites retreating into their initial positions."

The Russians had previously conceded dangerous new German gains in the 25-day-old battle for the Crimean stronghold, while Nazi dispatches asserted that the fight "has entered its final stage."

On the rekindled Kursk front, 130 miles north of Kharkov, the Russians said they had again repulsed Nazi offensive thrusts.

"Our troops repulsed a large enemy tank attack with success," the Russian command said.

A British broadcast said "one of the greatest air struggles of the war is now being fought out" over the Kursk and Kharkov sectors, where Gen. Fedor von Bock's invasion armies were driving eastward in an attempt to cut off Soviet communications between Moscow and the Caucasus.

Armed Stiffen

Although the outlook in the seven-day-old battle of Egypt was still grave, there were indications that American airmen and planes of the New Zealand reinforcements were stiffening the weary British armies.

In Cairo, an American military observer just back from the front declared:

"While the situation cannot be classified as good after such reverses as have been suffered in the desert, it certainly is not hopeless and looks better now than a few days ago."

The R.A.F. has kept control of the air, and this has had a tremendous effect on the morale of the troops.

The commentators said that in the latest phases of the withdrawal, the British retreated in complete order, leaving nothing to fall in the hands of the enemy.

British military quarters scoffed at Axis claims that Gen. Rommel's invading forces "stormed" Matruh, asserting that the fortress had been stripped and left as a "ghost town" dummy to make Rommel use up his supplies while the British quietly slipped away to new defensive positions.

Prime Minister Churchill, who faces a non-confidence challenge to his leadership, told the House of Commons he did not propose "to make any statement today about the momentous battle now being fought in Egypt" aside from the announcement that Gen. Auchinleck had taken over personal command.

Nor did Churchill comment on his recent series of win-the-war conferences with President Roosevelt which aroused widespread conjecture on the subject of an allied "second front" in Europe this year.

In Cairo, Premier Mustapha Hahab Pasha told the Egyptian parliament had received a message from British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden declaring:

"The British government is not only quite determined to defend Egyptian territory against any aggression but have the means and power to do so."

In aerial warfare, R.A.F. squadrons, perhaps 300 strong, "heavily bombed" Germany's big U-boat lair at Bremen during the night, the British air ministry announced, and attacked aerodromes in Nazi-occupied territory.

Nine R.A.F. bombers were acknowledged missing.

Kalter also testified that in January this year he talked with a department head in the Ward Foughkeepsie store, a man with whom he had been friendly when the latter was employed in the Kingston store in 1940, and had been told "I would like to have you with me, but on account of your union activities I couldn't take a chance."

George Loughlin, who had been employed with the Ward store here for some time and who was in the shipping department, testified that he also was discharged following the union organization meeting on November 26. He said that the reason given was that he had been absent from the store for two days and had failed to report.

The hearing was continued this morning.

Agencies Are Set Up

The government has set up agencies to organize groups of workers willing to go out into the country and aid in the harvest. Many students of high school age have enrolled but there has been little demand for their help. The United States Employment Service in Kingston and Newburgh stands ready to supply help and youths have enrolled but there has been little call for such aid in the present fruit harvest.

Inquiry at the Farm Bureau office this morning brought forth the fact that the light strawberry crop this spring had been harvested without difficulty but that there were demands being made now for berry pickers and small fruit workers.

Early this spring when the farm cadet movement was undertaken
